The policy outlines a strategic approach which recognises that play opportunities should be developed where there is a need, taking into consideration the importance of community involvement and being reflective of best practice.

As a local authority, we continually review how we can enable communities to develop their opportunities for play in the best way possible to ensure that play is embedded and sustainable within communities.

- Draws on recent consultation to help provide information that shapes the future development of Play

Community Impact Assessment Title:

The Taking Play Forward Play Policy 2016-2019

What evidence is available to suggest that the proposed service, policy, function or criteria could have a negative (N), positive (P) or no (None) effect on quality of life outcomes? (Refer to guidance for further details)

Can negative impacts be justified? For example: improving community cohesion; complying with other legislation or enforcement duties; taking positive action to address imbalances or under-representation; needing to target a particular community or group e.g. older people. NB. Lack of financial resources alone is NOT justification!

Evidence

- Children and Young People's Plan 2016-2019: Involving children and young people and hearing their voice is a well established part of how York works to deliver the best possible outcomes for families.
- The annual "Review of Voice", completed in April 2015, brings together key messages from young people gathered through one-to-one work, participation groups, surveys and consultations.
- The Chief Medical Officer recommends that: "All children and young people should engage in moderate to vigorous physical activity for at least 60 minutes and up to several hours every day. Through promoting the values and benefits of active play we will improve health outcomes for our children and young people."

- City of York Child Poverty Strategy 2011–2020: Priorities in the plan include ensuring that all children and young people and communities have access to and are involved in the development of local, safe and freely available quality play experiences that are within easy walking distance.
- The summer edition of Shine will launch an engagement process inviting suggestions from children and young people, parents and carers in York to identify potential capital projects.
