Indices of Multiple Deprivation (IMD)
	The Index of Multiple Deprivation combines a number of indicators, chosen to cover a range of economic, social and housing issues, into a single deprivation score for each small area in England. The Indices are used widely to analyse patterns of deprivation, identify areas that would benefit from special initiatives or programmes and as a tool to determine eligibility for specific funding streams.
	Crime	This domain measures the rate of recorded crime for four major crime types, representing the risk of personal and material victimisation at a small area level.
	Employment	This domain measures employment deprivation conceptualised as involuntary exclusion of the working age population from the labour market.
	Income	The purpose of this domain is to capture the proportion of the population, and their income levels.
	Health and Disability	This domain measures rates of poor health, early mortality and disability in an area and covers the entire age range.
	Education and Skills	This domain captures the extent of deprivation in terms of education, skills and training in a local area. The indicators are structured into two sub domains: one relating to education deprivation for children/young people in the area, and one relating to lack of skills and qualifications among a sub-set of the working age adult population.
	Barriers to Housing	The purpose of this domain is to measure barriers to housing and key local services. The indicators are structured into two sub-domains: 'geographical barriers', and 'wider barriers' which includes issues relating to access to housing, such as affordability.
	Living Environment	This domain focuses on deprivation with respect to the characteristics of the environment. It comprises two sub-domains: the 'indoors' living environment which measures the quality of housing, and the 'outdoors' living environment which contains two measures about air quality and road traffic accidents.

NOMIS	Nomis is a service provided by the Office for National Statistics, ONS, to give you free access to the most detailed and up-to-date UK labour market
