This draft version of the document shows the Mid term report at it latest stage of production. Some of the text is still to be compiled as not all relevant monitoring data has been collected, and is awaited. It is also acknowledged that further editing of the text is required to make the report more concise. It does, however, provide sufficient information for executive to either approve the report, or request changes to it, prior to its submission to government, in accordance with the recommendations of the Executive Report.
