Humber and North Yorkshire Integrated Care Board Integrated Impact Assessment

Title of Scheme/Project:	Adult ASD and ADHD Assessment Service - referral pilot
Project Manager:	Sheila Fletcher, Angie Walker, Jacob Gilson, Shaun Macey
Clinical Lead:	Dr Peter Billingsley
Programme Lead:	Kirsty Kitching
Senior Responsible Officer (SRO):	Michele Carrington
Finance Lead:	Natalie Caphane
Quality Lead:	Michele Carrington
Equality Lead:	Abigail Combes
Business Intelligence Lead:	George Scott

Proposed change:
To pilot the introduction of criteria for referral to assessment for adult autism and ADHD assessments, and a new approach to screening for neurodiversity through an online screening tool called the Do-It Profiler in York Place and North Yorkshire Place. The changes are in the context of growing demand for adult autism and ADHD assessments resulting in unacceptable wait times and the need to prioritise resources towards most at-risk adults. The pilot is intended to test the new referral process and the Do-IT Profiler approach over a number of months, to enable further review and engagement to develop a more sustainable approach from July 2024. Following the decision that was taken at PODG (NY) and SLT (York) in June to extend the pilot for a further 9 months, it was agreed to do some further work to review the decision to ensure that all of the options were appropriately considered. See embedded report in Documents tab. In response to feedback from The Retreat and the wider neurodiverse community around the definition and pathway for 'red' referrals, the ICB has worked with The Retreat and TEWV to determine a revised referral pathway that sets out a 'priority' referral process and set of 'priority' criteria with referral direct from the GP or CMHT, along with a routine referral pathway via the online platform. The former acceptance criteria will be removed from the online platform.

Summary of findings:

The pilot pathway is designed to connect people with support more quickly and help prioritise resources towards most at-risk adults. Previously, all referrals were assessed in chronological date order and there was no system for identifying those people who needed help more urgently. The purpose of the 'priority' process is to give the GP a route to request a clinical review by The Retreat against a set of criteria. If the request to prioritise is accepted, the referral will move up The Retreat's current waiting list and the patient will be seen for assessment sooner.

Priority referrals are via direct referral from a GP or health practitioner in primary care, and/or mental health practitioner in secondary care through a referral form with an accompanying pro-forma where it would be triaged against the priority criteria.

People who do not meet the priority criteria will be directed to the online platform to complete the neurodiverse modules. They will be offered the opportunity to remain on the waiting list for future triage, in chronological date order, as and when capacity becomes available, and/or offered/signposted to appropriate relevant support. All patients who complete the profile will receive immediate functional guidance and signposting to support networks.

Data from the online platform shows the number of people experiencing mental health issues such as eating disorders and data from the sensory profile can be used to map support activity such as executive functioning, independent living skills, time management/organisation, dealing with anxiety and low mood and understanding local pathways to services. The aim is to develop programmes/workshops for people needing such support.

Description of positive impacts (must include rationale and be evidence based)	How will these impacts be monitored
The pilot aims to identify those most at risk and channel them towards a face-to-face intervention with the specialist provider while allowing others, who might have had to wait years for a diagnosis, to access help online at a much earlier stage. This increases the overall number of patients benefitting from an intervention, and ensures those most in need obtain a more appropriate face-to-face referral. The introduction of criteria means that people who meet the expedited criteria can be referred directly by their GP or mental health professional and be considered by The Retreat to be moved up the waiting list. The service will be provided to people irrespective of, but with respect for all equality characteristics. A programme of engagement is planned and where possible, the service will obtain full equality information and determine the likely impacts. Due regard will be taken of this information during the pilot phase. A review of the impact will also be undertaken post implementation, considering any impact on equality groups	Outcome measures to be agreed with DoIT Profiler.

Description of negative impacts	Mitigating actions of negative impacts	How will this action be monitored	How often will this action be reviewed	Lead
Failure to identify and direct adults with autism and ADHD and direct them to an appropriate support service may result in harm occurring to those individuals	There are measures in place to ensure referrals can be expedited at any point should there be a clinical risk. 	Everyone registered with the online platform will be offered the opportunity to remain on a waiting list and based on their needs will be referred for an assessment or offered/signposted to appropriate relevant support
	Data from the online platform shows the number of people experiencing mental health issues such as eating disorders. The aim is to develop programmes/workshops for people needing such support
	The pilot aims to address the long waits by enabling people to have access to support from the point of referral for as long as they need it.
	Our ambition is to make more autism diagnoses and also provide more support now, and in the future for patients who are in need of support, whether they reach the threshold for an autism diagnosis or not.
	The Equality and Disability Acts identify neurodiversity as a disability but states that reasonable adjustments should be made on need and not necessarily on diagnosis
	Whilst the Profiler does not give a formal diagnosis, it gathers information which generates support and guidance relevant to the patient. Support modules and resources include topics like communication and wellbeing. Data from the Do-IT Profiler provides an understanding of patient need that ensures more tailored support can be developed. Data from the Do-IT Profiler will provide an analysis of impact of symptoms, duration, reasons for seeking a diagnosis and why a diagnosis will be of help. This supports the global assessment standard for a person to be diagnosed as autistic

Both universities in York will accept the neurodiverse reports of students when considering requests from students for academic adjustments

Sexual Orientation	In relation to sexual orientation, local population data is not known with any certainty. In part, this is because until recently national and local surveys of the population and people using services did not ask about an individual's sexual orientation. However, nationally, the Government estimates that 5% of the population are lesbian, gay or bisexual communities.	Local population data is not available for sexual orientation. In part, this is because until recently national and local surveys of the population and people using services did not ask about an individual's sexual orientation. However, Stonewall estimates that 5 - 7% of the national population are lesbian, gay or bisexual.	As described above, data in relation to sexual orientation and gender reassignment (LGBT data) is limited. From the Annual Population Survey, the Office for National Statistics (ONS) estimate that 0.9% of the population in the Yorkshire and Humber area identify as gay or lesbian compared to an estimated 1.3% of the UK as a whole. The ONS estimate that 0.9% of the population in the Yorkshire and Humber area identify as bisexual compared to an estimated 0.7% of the UK as a whole. ( NEL CCG Engagement Equality Monitoring Report )
Gender Reassignment	There are not any official statistics nationally or regionally regarding transgender populations, however, GIRES (Gender Identity Research and Education Society - www.gires.org.uk) estimated that, in 2007, the prevalence of people who had sought medical care for gender variance was 20 per 100,000, i.e. 10,000 people, of whom 6,000 had undergone transition. 80% were assigned as boys at birth (now trans women) and 20% as girls (now trans men). However, there is good reason, based on more recent data from the individual gender identity clinics, to anticipate that the gender balance may eventually become more equal.

ICS LSOA'S IMD 2019

Lower Super Output Areas (LSOAs) are small geographic areas produced by the ONS to enable reporting of small area statistics in England and Wales. There are 32,844 LSOAs in England, each having a population of approximately 1,500. Please see below a list specifically for the ICS places, most to least deprived and the rank out of the 32,844 LSOAs nationally. To the left is a map showing ICS LSOA Level IMD scores by quintiles.
