Comparison of usage figures for CYC website

Points to note are:

- the change in popular browsers (see pie charts below) can be attributed to more mobile users (safari is the iphone's default browser)
- an increased percentage of new visitors (perhaps more people willing to try the site for the first time?)
- less page views and shorter session duration may be accredited to users are getting what they need to know on their first visit, faster, from more concise content which is displayed across fewer pages, following the content review.
- A higher bounce rate could be that (with the exception of the home page) they came, got what they wanted and left, again because since the content review, they didn't need to click any further. Please see table below for 2015 'landing pages' (eg. where users enter our site) this can be hard to interpret as we can't tell exactly why users leave...
