YORK NORTHWEST

What is York Northwest?

York Northwest is a large area within the city which will be redeveloped over the next 20 years. It includes two major previously developed sites, 'York Central' and 'British Sugar'.

Where is it?

The York Northwest Area lies to the north and west of the historic city centre of York. Both sites are located next to the East Coast Main Line and the A59. The area of land which could be developed is huge - about 75 hectares - equivalent to over 120 football pitches.

What is an Area Action Plan?

It is important that the development of York Northwest is integrated with the local communities and the rest of the city. The council needs to prepare planning guidance to guide any new development and to make sure that as many people as possible can benefit from the development. This guidance is called an Area Action Plan (AAP) which will fit into the overall planning of the city.

What has York Northwest got to do with me?

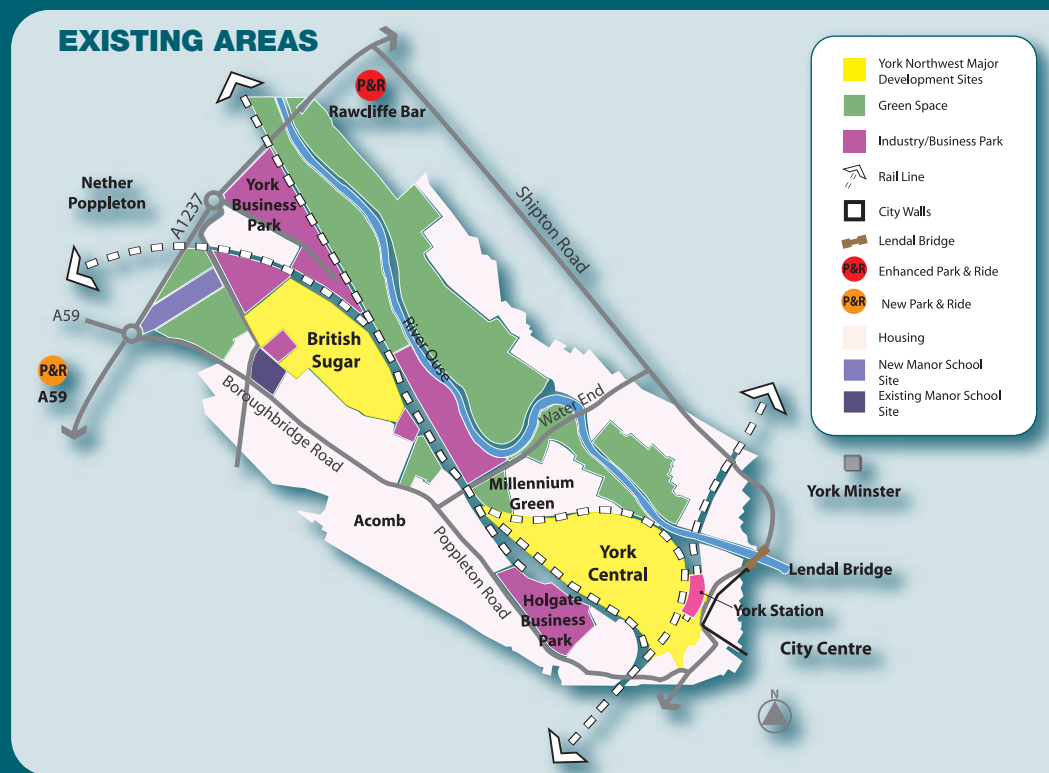

Development of this area is important for the city as it will provide jobs, housing, leisure and shopping facilities over the next 20 years. The size of the development of the York Northwest area will be so great that it is likely to affect not only the people who live and work close to the York Central and British Sugar sites, but also people who live and work in York and visit the city from a much wider area. The first stage of the Area Action Plan is to identify as many issues as possible and to look at the various possibilities for how the area could be developed. We need your views to help to shape the Plan from an early stage in the process.

What sort of things do we want to know?

We would like to know what things are important to you, such as shopping facilities, jobs, open space or the sort of housing you would like to see within the area. To give us your views please complete this leaflet and tear off, returning in an envelope to the FREEPOST address overleaf. Alternatively, you can take part in a more in depth survey online at www.york.gov.uk/consultation/

How can I get involved?

We are consulting residents from Monday 5th November 2007 to Monday 14th January 2008. We will be holding a number of exhibitions during November and December where you can come along and look at what we have done so far and tell us what you think. There is a list of where and when the exhibitions are being held overleaf. In addition to this leaflet there is a more detailed document explaining the Issues and Options for York Northwest, together with a form for you to comment in more detail. This document will be available to view at the exhibitions and at libraries and council reception areas.
