The following list shows all audit areas not considered to be high risk or required audits for 2009/10. The highlighted areas are those that should be considered for audit in 2009/10, based on the current audit risk assessment and taking into account factors such as the length of time since the previous audit. However, there are insufficent resources available to review all of these areas.

Notes:

1) Each area is given a score of between 17 and 85. The scores take into account a number of different factors for example the numbers and values of transactions processed, the extent to which management is devolved, potential risks to reputation, and the results of external inspections. Audits scoring 57 points or more are considered high risk and will normally be carried out annually. Audits scoring between 28 and 56 points are considered medium risk and will normally be carried out every two to three years. Audits scoring 27 points or less are considered low risk and will be carried out once every five years, if resources allow.
